The monographs discuss each product, methods for its production, tests for safety, purity and potency, etc. They are advisory in character, intended for the information and assistance of manufacturers and scientists. Forms are sometimes attached to the monographs which are designed for use in recording the results of tests of a licensed product. These forms may be used in preparing the protocols which are to be transmitted to the National Institute of Health with samples of licensed products, as provided for in §§ 73.71 and 73.91 of this chapter. The Biologics Control Laboratory also prepare and issues from time to time material, known as "Dating Decisions," containing information concerning the periods within which particular products may be expected to yield their specific results. This material represents the latest scientific knowledge available and is also advisory in character. PART 73—BIOLOGIC PRODUCTS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Notice of proposed rule making having been published (12 F. R. 6769), and consideration having been given to all relevant matter presented, the following amendments are prescribed to the regulations relating to biologic products. The regulations and the amendments are for the purpose of establishing standards to insure the continued safety, purity and potency of biologic products, applicable to the prevention, treatment or cure of diseases or injuries of man, which are to be sold, bartered or exchanged in the District of Columbia or in interstate or foreign commerce.

The amendments are prescribed under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (58 Stat. 702, 42 U. S. C., Sup. 262), and shall be effective thirty days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Sections 73.70, 73.71 and 73.94 (12 F. R. 6222, 6223) are amended to read as follows:

§ 73.70 Tests prior to release—(a) Required for each lot. No lot of any licensed product shall be released by the manufacturer prior to the completion of tests for conformity with the standards applicable to such product.

(b) Potency. Tests for potency shall be made on each lot only after completion of those processes of manufacture which may affect the potency of the final product. The tests shall consist of either in vitro or in vivo tests, or both, which have been specifically designed for each product so as to indicate its potency in a manner adequate to satisfy the interpretation of potency given by the definition in § 73.1 (q).

(c) Identity and safety. The contents of a final container of each filling of each lot shall be tested for identity and for safety either after the labels have been affixed to the final container or affixed, both outside and inside, to the multiple container storage receptacle just prior to its sealing for storage purposes, except that exceptions to this procedure may be authorized by the Institute to apply when the volume of the final container is very large and when more than one lot is processed each day.

The identity test shall be specific for each product in a manner which will adequately identify it and distinguish it from any other product being processed in the same laboratory. In general, identity may be established either through the physical or chemical characteristics of the product, inspection by macroscopic or microscopic methods, specific cultural tests, or in vitro or in vivo immunological tests.

In general, the safety test shall consist of the parenteral injection of the maximum volume tolerated, but not more than 0.5 ml. into mice weighing approximately 20 grams each and 5.0 ml. into guinea pigs weighing approximately 350 grams each. When the injections are made into at least two animals of each species, there shall result neither significant symptoms nor death during an observation period of not less than 7 days. Variations from this test, either in the volume injected or in the species of test animal used shall be made whenever required because of the human dose level demanded of the product or because of any individual demands of the product itself.

(d) Sterility. Samples from final containers selected at random after each filling from each lot of each product shall be tested for sterility. The random sampling shall be made in such a manner that all stages of the filling from the bulk container will have equal chance of being represented. Three final containers shall be selected from each filling from each lot if the total number filled is 100 or less and, if greater, one additional container shall be selected for each additional 50 containers or fraction thereof, but not more than 10 samples need be tested. If the volume of the final container is 1.0 ml. or less, the entire contents of the container shall be cultured. If the volume of the final container is greater than 1.0 ml., the volume cultured shall be not less than 1.0 ml. when each injection is 1.0 ml. or less, and not less than the largest single injection recommended when greater than 1.0 ml., but need not be more than 10 ml. The culture shall be made in one or more tubes of fluid thioglycollate medium, and incubation shall be at 35° to 37° C. with observation for not less than 7 days. The manner of performing the sterility test may vary from the pattern prescribed in this paragraph when the nature of the product necessitates a change and when this need has been recognized by the Institute.

(e) Purity. The purity of a product, as defined in § 73.1 (p), includes the relative freedom from residual moisture and pyrogenic substances whenever these are factors of significance in the safe use of the product. The relative freedom from residual moisture shall be determined by a procedure which will accurately measure the amount of uncombined water or other volatile liquid present in the finished product. The relative freedom from pyrogenic substances shall be determined by the intravenous injection into normal rabbits of not less than 3.0 ml. per kilo of body weight, following which the thermal response shall not exceed 1.1° C. More rigid requirements for the pyrogen test shall be observed when the character of the product and the manner of its prophylactic or therapeutic use make this necessary to meet requirements of safety as defined in § 73.1 (o).

§ 73.71 Tests: by whom made. Tests for safety, purity and potency applicable to the product shall be completed for each lot of any licensed product prior to its release by the manufacturer, and samples of any lot of any licensed product, together with the protocols showing the results of applicable tests, may at any time be required to be sent to the Institute for examination.

§ 73.94 Container. The product shall be hermetically sealed under vacuum or under a dry non-oxidizing gas in ampoules prepared from glass of the quality prescribed in § 73.75. The contents of any final container shall not exceed 10 maximum human doses.

In the matter of application by the San Francisco Stock Exchange for unlisted trading privileges in American Airlines, Incorporated, common stock, $1.00 par value.
